Millions Available For Road Work To Relieve The Unemployment Situation In Pennsylvania

Governor Sproul Announces State Anticipated Recommendations of Harding Unemployment Conference and Made Funds Available.

(By United News)

Chester, Pa., Oct. 5.—To relieve the unemployment situation in the state of Pennsylvania and follow out the recommendations made by President Harding's unemployment conference, $12,000,000 will be made available immediately by the state toward the building of roads Gov. William C. Sproul, confined to his home here by a slight cold, announced today.

State Work Under Way

Sproul said that Pennsylvania already had anticipated the recommendation of the Washington conference as it now has $125,000,000 for state work under way.

The Governor said that the $12,000,000 of state funds really is a part of the $50,000,000 road appropriation held by the state pending action by Congress to have the federal government equal the amount provided by the state.

The fund will be distributed among the counties of the state, Sproul said. He did not make any estimate of the number of men for whom the fund would afford employment.

Hoover Appoints Director

Washington, D. C., October 5.—Colonel Arthur Woods, former police commissioner of New York, was today appointed by Secretary of Commerce Hoover to co-ordinate work done in various communities to relieve unemployment.

He will endeavor to have all cities follow the emergency recommendation to end idleness of the National Unemployment Conference.

LEAGUE ASSEMBLY DEFERS ACTION ON AMENDMENTS

Suppression of Article 10 To Be Given First Consideration.

LEAGUE WILL MEET IN 1922

All Action Is Ordered Postponed Until the Next Session.

(By United News)

Geneva, Switzerland, October 5.—The League Assembly has postponed action on every proposed amendment to the League Covenant, even refusing to consider the interpretative resolution until 1922.

Canada's proposal to suppress Article 10, it was announced, will be the first matter to be considered by the 1922 meeting.

FIRST SNOW

The first snow of the season arrived in this section yesterday. Several snow flurries swept the hills beyond town Tuesday morning. Tyrone, Altoona and all the higher points in the central part of the state also experienced slight snow squalls during the day.

Local Lad Arrested For Passing Forged Checks

Lad a Slick One—Claimed He Was On His Way To See the World's Series—Caught In Philipsburg Theatre—Many Local Merchants and One Philipsburg Merchant Hooked By Forger.

"I was on my way to the World's Series" was the explanation William Duckett, son of T. P. Duckett, gave when he was apprehended by State Police and Officer Keogh late last night in Philipsburg, charged with having been responsible for the passage of seven forged checks.

Following a trail of forged paper that led from one end of town to the other, the local police just missed capturing him here. In fact, while they were investigating the report of the lost forger young Duckett was even then shaking the dust of Clearfield from his shoes, en route for the World's Series, as he said, via Philipsburg. The only mistake he made was the stop at Philipsburg, where he tendered another forged check for $35.00 in payment for a $21.50 coat, and then fell into the hands of the law.

During his investigation here Keogh definitely established the identity of the passer of the checks, and immediately after it was learned Duckett, Jr., has made his getaway on the 6:28 Pennsylvania train, going towards Philipsburg, word was sent there for officials to be on the lookout for him. In some manner, however, he ducked the police and a short time later Officer Keogh arrived in Philipsburg in the automobile to take up the search. After two hours he gave it up, but on reaching home was notified the state troopers had the lad in charge, and at once returned to bring him to Clearfield, where he was lodged in the borough jail, pending a hearing.

When searched here, it was found he was wearing a new overcoat, which it was finally brought out he had purchased from a clothing store at Philipsburg, according to his confession, tendering a $35 forged check in payment and taking $10.50 in cash in the bargain.

Had Another Ready

He also had another forged check in his possession, made out for $35, which he is said to have claimed he was going to cash at Philipsburg this morning and then, he himself on the way to take in the World's Series.

While the passing was good, young Duckett is alleged to have passed dexterously.

Half Dozen Hooked.

As a result, no less than five or six phoney checks, ranging in amounts from $10 to $35, were exchanged at as many different stores for small quantities of merchandise and a handful of perfectly good U. S. currency to make up the difference.

In each case the checks were made payable to John Duckett and purported to have been signed by Merrill Wright. The gentlemen whose names appeared on the checks are both residents of Hillsdale.

Failed At One Store

The checks were cashed by a young man about 18 years of age. He went into the Workman's Store and after making a small purchase, offered a check for $15 in payment. The rules of this store require that all checks, where the person attempting to pass same is unknown to the clerk, shall be submitted to the Manager for his O. K. That was done in this case and Manager Matern, in giving the check the gimlet-eyed once-over, discovered that the name Wright was spelled "Right." As soon as he saw that "Right" was spelled "wrong" Matern decided that he was up against something and telling the young man that "Right" was "wrong" in this case, and he wouldn't be a party to further wronging Mr. Wright in cashing the check.

The check handler did not appear to be a bit flustered by his rebuff, but going out of the store, dropped into the "Reliable" store, next door to the Workman's, and there succeeded in marketing his worthless paper. He then hit up the Army and Navy Store further down Third street, where he traded another

Mine-Rail Worker Union Alliance Now Proposed

LOYD GEORGE TAKES STAND ON UNEMPLOYMENT

Approved By Miners In Convention Tuesday At Indianapolis.

ALLIANCE FOR STRIKE PURPOSE

(By United News)

Indianapolis, Indiana, October 5.—An alliance between United Mine Workers and the Big Four Rail Unions, to increase the effectiveness of a strike by either organization, was in prospect today. The proposed alliance was approved by the Miners' Convention.

Under the plan the miners would refuse to mine coal for use by "scab railroad men" in case of a strike by the Railroad Unions. On the other hand in event of a strike of miners the Railroad Union men would be expected to refuse to transport coal mined by non-union workers.

B. C. YOUNGMAN BIBLE CLASS HAS ANNUAL BANQUET

The B. C. Youngman Bible Class of the Presbyterian church held its annual banquet at the Jordan Hotel last evening at six o'clock. Nearly two score members of the class attended the dinner and a wonderfully enjoyable and profitable evening was spent. After the dinner the toastmaster called on several of the Sunday School workers and all responded in a happy vein. "Young Campbell" was ready with a poem as soon as the chicken bones were cleared away and it was so laudatory to the Jordan Cafe that the modest proprietor slipped out of the room. Following Mr. Campbell, Senator McQuown paid high tribute to the Sunday school as moulder of thought and men and to the one whose name the class bears, B. S. Youngman, who will always be remembered.

May Soon Take Up This Problem From International Standpoint.

NATIONS PLEDGE THEIR FUTURE

(By United News)

London, Oct. 5.—Lloyd George linked the Irish situation and the unemployment crisis as twin issues in a speech delivered at Inverness Tuesday.

The premier referred to the coming peace conference only in passing, but delivered the significant expression that "the success of the conference depends upon the delegates not trying to reconcile the extremists, but trusting to the common sense of their respective people."

International In Scope

Regarding unemployment he hinted that he would take up the problem not only from a standpoint of the English, but in its international aspect before returning to London.

"There has been more government relief for unemployment in the last two years," he said, "than ever before in the history of England or any other nation. The present situation has arisen through the shattering of the world's trade and the world's credit. Nations have mortgaged their resources and pledged their future and the result has been the impoverishment of traders, workers, investors and everybody dependent upon them."

Will Allow None To Starve
"No one in Great Britain will be allowed to starve as long as there is a crown in the national cupboard," he continued, "The world needs most of all an atmosphere of peace and economy. There must be co-operation of all classes or otherwise things will proceed from a crisis to a disaster."

President And Cabinet To March On Armistice Day

Will Go Afoot To Cemetery At U. S. Hero's Burial

(By United News)

Washington, D. C., October 5.—President Harding and members of his cabinet will march in foot in the procession here on Armistice Day, from the Capitol to Arlington National cemetery, where the body of an unknown American soldier will be buried.

This decision was reached Tuesday at the meeting of the President and his cabinet at the White House.

PANAMA FREE PASSAGE BILL IN THE SENATE

(By United News)

Washington, D. C., October 5.—Senator Fletcher, of Florida, today opened debate in the Senate on the Borah Bill to give American coastwise ships free passage through the Panama Canal. Speaking against the bill Fletcher said it would involve breaking the nation's solemn treaty pledges made to Great Britain.

He also objected to the measure because it singled out coastwise shipping and did not include all American shipping.

News Of Interest From Our Neighbors

Petty Thieves Make Hauls In And Near Curwensville

Clotheslines and Refrigerators Suffer From Night Hauls.

Numerous reports of petty thieving are coming to light as having occurred the past week in the borough, and places close by. Clothes lines and refrigerators seem to be suffering the worst, yet the vegetable gardens come in for their share. It is also reported that there are not a few families in town who are living from "hand to mouth," not having enough provision to supply them from meal to another.

WHAT LEW THINKS OF SOME OF HIS HUNTER FRIENDS

Go where you will in town, you will hear fellows recounting last year's hunting experiences and the hazardous escapes made by them to keep deer and bear from running right over them, after killing the limit. Just so, but we hope these hunters will bottle up such wild forest tales of his season's hunt and then sink the bottles in the bottom of the Susquehanna River.

SALESMAN KNOWN HERE DIES IN N. Y.

Word reached here Tuesday that Frank Smith, well known to Curwensville people and a salesman for the Crescent Refractories Company, died suddenly in a New York state town. It is said that Mr. Smith besides being a salesman, owned and held considerable stock in the Crescent Refractories Company.

CHESTNUT HUNTERS SEE PHEASANTS

Chestnut hunters report that there are quite a few ring-neck pheasants scattered around in the woods and the few that were liberated last fall multiplied rather plentifully. As the late law prevents the killing of them for another season by the end of the year 1922 there will be plenty of them in the woods and sportsmen will not have to tramp around all day without getting a shot or two at them.

RALLY DAY IS OBSERVED AT WOODLAND

Harry Shaw, of Clearfield, Makes Pleasant Address.

Rally Day was observed in the Sunday School Surfray morning with 131 in attendance. I was a very successful service throughout. Each one in attendance was presented with a Rally Day button. The Sunday School Orchestra rendered fine music. Harry Shaw, Superintendent of the West Side Methodist Sunday School of Clearfield, was present and gave us a cheery word of greeting. Mr. Meise sang two pleasing solos. He was accompanied by Miss Edith Shaw on the piano and Mr. Meise on the violin. The principal address was delivered by Rev. C. E. Cook, Secretary of the Clearfield Y. M. C. A. His address was inspiring and helpful and gave us much to think about. The offering amounted to $17.52.

DR. COLLINS TO SPEAK FRIDAY AT WOODLAND CHURCH

Friday evening at eight o'clock we are to have Dr. Collins with us to give a series of readings and poems intermingling the poetic and the humorous. In connection with this our young people will give a musical entertainment. Come out and enjoy a pleasant evening. Silver offering at the door.

The Boy Scouts will meet Tuesday evening at 7:30; and there will be a meeting of the Official Board at the close of the prayer service Wednesday evening.

Alphabet Traced to Phoenicians
Utterly different as appear the various alphabets of the world—the ancient Greek, the square Hebrew of the Jews, the elaborate Sanscrit, the Neshki alphabet of the Arabic speaking peoples—they may be all traced back to a single germ—the A. B. C. of the Phoenician traders, who for centuries their far-flung commercial enterprises created what was a sort of universal shorthand by a system of selection of symbols from Egyptian and other forms of picture writing and gradually developed the broad generalization of an alphabet.—Chicago Journal.

AClearfield Citizen Gives Information Of Precious Value.
When you suffer from headaches, dizziness, nervousness, feel weak and languid, depressed, have annoying urinary disorders; do you know what to do? Some Clearfield people do. Read the statement that follows. It's from a Clearfield citizen. Testimony that can be investigated. Mrs. G. M. Lansbery, 111 Merrill St. says: "Some time ago I was troubled with bad headaches. There was a dull continual ache in the back of my neck and I was told it came from my kidneys, which were disordered. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills and on taking a few I found the pain was greatly lessened. I am glad to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for I think they are a wonderful kidney remedy. Price 60 cents, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Lansbery had. Foster-McBarn Co., Mfg., Buffalo, N. Y.

Figs Excellent Food.
Figs, we are told, were served on aristocratic Roman tables with salt, pepper, vinegar and aromatics. They were eaten fresh or dried in ovens, or on hurdles in the sun. The Institute regrets to be lacking in appreciation of the classics, but we recommend cream and sugar for ripe figs, Xerxes and Pilay, David and Philip, to the contrary notwithstanding. And most delicious they are—if you can get them.—Boston Globe.

Short Night in Scotch Highlands.
In the early July days the Highlands may truly be called a land where there is no night, writes a correspondent of the London Daily Mail from Elgin, Scotland, for sunset and sunrise are really one and the same. Officially the sun appears for about six hours, but the track of its passage from northwest to northeast is marked by a crimson glow above the horizon which serves to link the long summer days together in an unbroken chain.

Torrens Registration System.
This is a system of registration of titles to real estate introduced by Sir Robert Torrens in Australia, and bears his name. This system of official examination and registration of titles has been adopted in Australia, England, New Zealand, British Columbia and parts of Canada. In a modified form it is used in several states of the Union, in Hawaii and in the Philippines.

The Seven Sleepers.
The story concerns seven Christian youths of Ephesus, imprisoned by order of the Emperor Decius in a cave in which they sought refuge, and where they fell asleep for nearly 200 years, awaking to find a new civilization. They then related their story to the multitude, gave them their benediction, and expired. The Church consecrated June 27 to their memory.

WHY BLAME THE RAILROAD LAW?

(New York World.)

Senator Cummins has finally reached the point toward which he has been rather hopelessly drifting for some time. Congress, he says, must either put teeth into the Transportation Act which he did so much to fashion or admit that it is a failure and repeal it.

Before giving up the ship altogether the Senator from Iowa should consult with the senior senator from Massachusetts. To the latter this is one of the most perfect works ever struck off by a Republican Congress and decidedly the greatest achievement of the Republican Congress immediately prior to the present one. Speaking as chairman of the Republican National Convention at Chicago a year ago last June, Mr. Lodge said that this Railroad Law was sufficient in itself "to distinguish a Congress as one of high accomplishment." It was "a remarkable piece of legislation" and "entirely sound;" and if anything went wrong under this law it would be due rather to the "mismanagement, waste and confusion bequeathed" by government operation under a Democratic administration than to the law itself.

Let Senator Cummins think twice about this matter. The Transportation Act is hardly a year and a half old. It is practically the only act which distinguishes the record of the last Republican Congress as better than one of negation and destruction under the leadership chiefly of Senator Lodge. If both railroads and union labor are proving to be rebellious against so perfect a statute, does not the blame obviously lie with the "mismanagement, waste and confusion" of government war operation and not with the statute?

A SHOCKING MISTAKE

(Pittsburg Post.)

The case of the Mercer county man who, after having been convicted of murder and sentenced to death, has been found to be innocent and has just been pardoned by Governor Sprout, should be an object lesson to those who may be disposed to condone lynching for certain crimes. When it is possible for a hideous mistake like this to be made, even though the defendant be given the benefit of trial by jury under the rules for the admission of evidence, how much greater is the possibility of error when no such safeguards are provided to insure that the accused, if innocent, shall be given a chance to prove it.

It has been shown to the satisfaction of the courts and the governor that this man was convicted on false testimony. But he was in jail for more than four years before they were convinced. The case vindicates the custom of the courts not to rush execution of the death sentence.

A SILENT PRAYER

President Harding has issued a proclamation calling upon all "doubt and patriotic citizens of the United States" to pause at noon on Friday, Nov. 11, Armistice day, for two minutes "for a period of silent prayer of thanks to the Giver of All Good for the valuable and valorous lives and supplication for His divine mercy and for His blessing upon our beloved country."

On the day appointed the unknown American soldier, brought from the battlefields of France, will be buried with appropriate ceremonies in the Memorial amphitheatre of National cemetery at Arlington, Va., to be the representative of all unidentified American dead who in the world war gave their lives in their country's cause.

It is quite fitting that we should thus honor the boys who made the supreme sacrifice, and it is no less fitting that we should offer a fervent prayer of thankfulness to God for the brave and heroic young men and likewise for His goodness and mercy and the multitudinous blessing which he has so generously vouchsafed us as a people.

Through Him we are what we are, and through Him we will be whatever we hope to be.

Current Business Conditions

By GEORGE E. ROBERTS

(From the Monthly Letter Issued by The National City Bank of New York for October)

THE end of September shows signs of improvement in the business situation, and while for the most part they relate to seasonal conditions, some of the changes are indicative of a gradual restoration of the industrial equilibrium which is necessary to permanent prosperity.

The shoe industry and the cotton and woolen goods industries are now generally active. Raw cotton has advanced in a little over a month from about 11 cents per pound to about 20 cents, and this has put strength into the goods market, and encouraged buying.

Cotton goods, however, have not advanced to correspond with raw cotton, and although the mills are having stocks of 11 and 12 cent raw material on hand are able to work them up and sell the goods, the pinch will come when they have to buy cotton at the new quotations and advance the price of goods accordingly.

Retail merchants are vigorously opposing advances in all textiles and insisting that lower prices are necessary to create a good volume of trade. The situation is unsettled, with opinion spreading that costs must be reduced both in the manufacture of cloth and in the garment trades.

In many lines there is a stir of increased activity, attributable to fall trade. Crop moving is not, however, affording the normal stimulus, owing in part to the low prices of farm products and in part to the fact that the proceeds are going largely to pay old debts. However, there is a more cheerful feeling as debts are paid or reduced. There is not enough business to go around, which makes competition sharp, with profits at the minimum.

The wheat crop of the United States and Canada stands at latest estimates about the same as a year ago, and the world's crop is about the same as for last year. About 135 million bushels were exported (either as whole grain or flour) between July 1 and October 1.

It has been recognized in well-informed quarters throughout the last two months that the price of wheat between now and the next for harvest depends largely upon the crops in Argentina and Australia, two countries which have their harvests in our winter season.

Neither of these countries ships wheat to the United States, but their surplus competes with ours in Europe and the price of the surplus makes the price everywhere, to include the unemployed and cre-

In view of the prospect for light sowings in Russia this fall and no surplus there next year, it would seem to be good policy to sow a larger acreage of wheat in the United States this fall.

It does not appear that the position of agriculture or any of the primary industries has generally improved during recent months. The cotton producers have gained by the increased value of their carry-over, tobacco, and dairy products are bringing better prices, and wheat is on a remunerative basis, but hogs have suffered a heavy slump and are now with cattle and sheep down to about pre-war prices. Taken as a whole the prices of farm products are so far out of line with the prices of manufactures and charges for transportation that the usual exchanges cannot be made. Hence the state of unemployment in the industrial towns.

The whole business situation is clogged and obstructed not only by the high cost of railroad operations but by high industrial costs, placing goods beyond the purchasing power of consumers. This is the principal reason why millions of men are out of work and it will have to be remedied before any general recovery can take place.

The sunshine cure is no remedy for this situation. Prosperity will not be created by cheerful talk while this unbalanced state of industry exists. It will not be created by unemployment conferences unless they bring about an understanding of the necessity for reducing industrial costs. Such make-shifts as spreading what employment there is when all the production forces of society are in full action.

ating employment upon public works are at best effective only as a means of tidying over a temporary situation, and are chiefly objectionable because they actually postpone the readjustments that are necessary to the restoration of a normal state of industry. The natural course for an employer to pursue when reductions of force must be made is to retain the oldest and most worthy employees, and it is not likely that many will be persuaded to do otherwise.

There is no way to have prosperity except by self-supporting, balanced industry—by the free and natural exchange of products and services—and this requires that the compensation of the people in the various industries shall be on such a basis that they will absorb each other's products.

When a general state of confusion exists in which the exchange of goods cannot be made as usual, production slows down. The individual employer cannot go on making goods unless he can sell them. When his outlet is closed he shuts down, and when he stops buying materials and paying wages an outlet for other products is closed. Employers and employees are alike affected; it is not a situation to quarrel over, but to investigate intelligently, to find the original cause.

The existing situation presents a test of the quality of labor leadership. Has it the foresight, the wisdom and courage to act for the best interests of the whole body of wage-earners and of society as a whole? Undoubtedly the responsible labor leaders are in a trying position. One of them is quoted as saying that "labor unions are not organized to reduce wages," but are expected to secure advances rather than reductions. Leaders, however, depend for their lasting influence upon their ability to lead wisely and to serve the real interests of their followers, which means that they must serve the best interests of the public as well. There is no achievement worth while for any class unless it promotes the welfare of the entire community. There is a fair adjustment of relations which serves every interest best, because it produces the greatest aggregate result. Any-thing short of that yields less to every participant. This it not mere altruism, but economic law. Labor has the highest return when there is a full demand for all of it, and when all the production forces of society are in full action.

How Ferns Spread.
The fronds of ferns arch over until they touch the earth, where they root and form new plants. Some other ferns occasionally produce plants in this way, but in this species it is a settled habit. The new plants grow up, repeating the process of walking, and soon the original plant is surrounded by quite a colony of its own offspring without the intervention of spores. The connections between them are slow to die, and it is not unusual to see three or four generations linked together.

Clear Night in Scotland.
On a cloudless night one can sit by the shores of the Monia Athol and read a newspaper at midnight, and golf, tennis and bowls have all been played while England slept. Cattle can be seen steadily grazing through the clear nights. The birds, too, appear to be a little puzzled by the unusually bright conditions. Their twittering never ceases, and occasionally one will break into song that another will answer.—Exchange.

Whose fault is it when your husband is cross at breakfast?

If you hit your thumb with a hammer you wouldn't blame your thumb for hurting.

Then why blame your husband whose nerves may have been pounded by coffee, and whose rest probably has been broken by the irritation of the caffeine it contains?

If you stay awake half the night you don't feel any too cheerful.

The caffeine of coffee and the thein of tea are known drugs. If their use is persisted in, sooner or later the nervous system may give way.

Then you may have insomnia, or disturbed sleep. Your nerves and tissues will be robbed of that stability essential for normal and happy living.

You can avoid this possibility if you'll stop drinking tea and coffee and drink instead, rich, pleasing Postum.

Postum is the delicious cereal beverage with a coffee-like flavor. It affords the advantages of a hot drink, without the ill effects of tea or coffee.

Order Postum from your grocer today. Try it with the family for a few days, and see what a difference there'll be—how it will permit Nature to bring sound sleep and strong, sturdy, quiet nerves. Sold by grocers.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum (in tin) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.

Overnight Change In World's Series Betting Swings Odds—Giants Favorities In Manhattan

Influx of Giant Money Causes Yankee Bettors To Curb Their Series Wagers.

(By United News)
New York, October 5.—Here in Manhattan betting sentiment seems to be with the Giants. Across the bridge in Brooklyn the Yankees are the favorites, but this being Manhattan's own show, Brooklyn has no right to be homing in with any ideas whatsoever and accordingly the official "odds" are 11 to 10 or 6 to 5 on McGraw's team. All Brooklyn bets ignored.

Quick Swing.
There was a quick over-night change in betting chapters. A matter of some $600,000 poured into New York during the night, most of it from the pockets of out-of-town Giant sympathizers. They had heard that Yankee money was plentiful and this influx was big enough to swing the odds, which had been on Babe Ruth's colleagues, a degree or so in the other direction.

Quiet In Wall Street.
The men in Wall Street, who handle thousands of bets yearly, say that they have never known such a quiet season. They believe that the Yankee supporters are holding out until the morning of the game, in the hope of getting even better odds than those now prevailing.

YANKS FINISH FIRST ONCE IN NINETEEN YEARS

In nineteen years the New York Yankees have been first only once—this season. They finished second three, third twice, fourth three times, fifth three times, sixth four times, seventh once and last twice.

SCORES WILL BE SHOWN ON SCREEN

A couple of Clearfield's dyed-in-the-wool baseball fans, finding circumstances, financial and otherwise, wouldn't allow them and a lot of the rest of us to go to New York to witness the world's series, got together, rigged up the electric score board and, through the generosity of "Movie King" Driggs, will fix the thing up in the Globe Theatre building and thus give everybody an opportunity to horn in on the "serious" and watch each game reeled off play by play.

The Western Union people require $20 per day for installing their wire service, while the other incidental costs will eat up a few more shekels and, in order to realize, if possible, expenses on the venture, an admission fee of 55c, which includes war tax, will be charged.

The games start today and each day thereafter until the finish, at 2 p. m. If you want to see the series in comfort and at a minimum of expense, drop into the Globe.

WIRELESS TO CARRY SCORES

Ted Leitinger reported yesterday that he has made arrangements to get the scores out of the ether. In order to avoid error, he will pick them up by wireless telegraph from Arlington and by radiophone from Pittsburgh, announcing the scores on the scoreboard in front of Leitinger's every inning.

GIANTS DENY ORDERS TO PASS "BABE" RUTH

Both Managers Reticent About Announcing Staff Selections.

CARL MAYS MAY FACE GIANTS

Artie Neff Rumored To Be McGraw's Choice For Opener.

(By United News)
New York, October 5.—The New York Giants hastened to issue an absolute denial Wednesday night of a statement attributed to Manager McGraw, that he would instruct his pitchers to give Babe Ruth a base on balls every time he came to bat during the World's Series.

"McGraw never said that about Babe Ruth or anyone else," said Secretary Tierney, "furthermore, that is not his intention. No man is guaranteed a base on balls when facing the Giant pitchers."

Keep Hurling Selections Quiet.
While neither manager has announced their pitching selections for today's game, both being singularly reticent in this regard, rumor current here has it that Carl Mays will start for the Yanks, while Art Neff will try his luck for the Giants.

CAN BABE RUTH HIT STRANGE MOUND ARTISTS?

Even New York Bleacherites Are Unable To Prophecy Results.

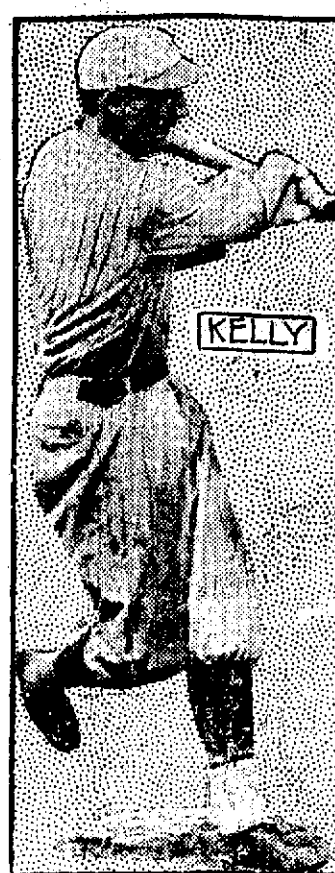

(By United News)
New York, October 5.—Ninth inning, three men out, two men out, and Babe Ruth standing at the plate facing Art Neff, for instance, whom he never faced before—can Babe Ruth knock home run No. 60 into his accustomed section of the right field grandstand?

If anybody in New York can answer you this, it is the World's Series bleacherites, with their chair pillows, as they begin trickling toward the Polo Grounds to hold the line for half the night and all Wednesday morning before the ticket windows open. Some will answer you "yes" and others will tell you "no," while others will hedge with a diplomatic yes and no.

"Yank" Meusel

HORSEHIDE HYSTERIA GRIPS NEW YORK NOW

Every Other Topic Is Taboo In the Great Metropolis.

The New York town is baseball crazy. A mild form of horsehide hysteria has come upon it.

Everywhere the World's Series clash, Giants vs. Yankees, McGraw vs. Huggins, Ruth vs. Kelly, is the sole topic. In the subway trains, on street cars, in the clubs and hotels, men in every walk of life are talking of nothing else. They are eating, breathing, sleeping baseball.

The result of the city election, the fate of the Ku Klux Klan, disarmament, football, everything else has suddenly been forgotten and the names of Ruth and Mays, of McGraw and Frank Frisch, are on every lip.

"Will they pitch to the Babe?" is interesting more folk than where the winter's coal is coming from or the sad news about next month's rent.

Hotels Feel The Rush.

It was thought that the series was to be a strictly local affair, but the hotels are feeling the rush of fans from North, West and South, who want to be at the ringside. They say it's a national event, nothing for New York City alone. Ed. Barrow, business manager of the Yanks, and Jim Tierney, Secretary of the Giants, declare that the demand for tickets from out-of-town is simply astounding. They've come with a rush in the last few days since the Yanks clinched their flag.

Lichens Make Superb Color.

Some of the most striking scenes upon the earth owe their characteristic features to mosses and lichens. The famous "crimson cliffs" of Greenland, which extend for miles northward from Cape York, derive their splendid color from the growth of red lichens which covers their face. The cliffs rise between 1,700 and 2,000 feet straight from the water's edge, and being composed of gray granite, their aspect would be entirely different from what it is except for the presence of the lichen.

The hour figures are two feet long on the dial of Big Ben. Its hour hand is made of gun-metal and its minute hand, which is 11 feet long, is of copper. The pendulum of Big Ben weighs 700 pounds and is 13 feet long.

Scotland, the "Land o' Cakes."
"Land o' Cakes" is a name given to Scotland, where oatmeal cakes form an important article of diet, especially among the lower classes. The phrase was made famous by Robert Burns in 1789, in his poem "On Capt. Grose's Peregrinations Through Scotland."

A Column of News and Timely Topics for the Man Who Feeds the World

THE WHEAT OUTLOOK

There is no danger of a world shortage of wheat during the coming years, and there is at present no indication of an undue surplus, according to the October issue of Commerce Monthly, published by the National Bank of Commerce in New York. World wheat production and requirements are approximately in balance.

"Estimated 1921 production of wheat in twenty countries which before the war produced 68 per cent of the known wheat crop of the world, aggregated $2,490,609,000 bushels compared with 2,384,143,000 bushels produced last year," Commerce Monthly says.

"The 1921 crop of the United States is estimated at 754,000,000 bushels and of Canada at 294,388,000 bushels. Allowing 600,000,000 bushels in the United States and 90,000,000 bushels in Canada for consumption and seeding requirements, and assuming a normal carryover at the beginning and end of the wheat year, there would be available for export from the two countries before July 1, 1922 a little over 350,000,000 bushels.

"All hope of surplus wheat supplies from Russia has been abandoned and famine relief in that country may make an appreciable drain on international supplies. Crops in northern Africa are fairly good, following a very poor harvest last year, but a normal exportable surplus is not expected. Exports from India are reported to have been prohibited entirely, because of the poor crop and high prices, and no improvement can be expected before the 1922 harvest. Argentina and Australia still have a fairly large share of their last crops. The amount available for export from Argentina on July 1 is estimated at over 40,000,000 bushels and from Australia at about 50,000,000 bushels, allowing for a normal carryover in each country.

"Current stocks in Europe are not large but are distinctly better than last year and are sufficient to meet requirements until the new harvest is available. Normally western Europe imports an average of 400,000,000 bushels of wheat annually. Of this amount Russia formerly supplied 150,000,000 bushels. In the last crop year, ending July 1, 1921, Canada and the United States together furnished net exports of about 475,000,000 bushels from the United States and Canada, together with the 90,000,000 bushels carryover in Argentina and Australia, therefore, make a total of 440,000,000 bushels available to meet the international demand. This apparently balances the probable European requirements of approximately 400,000,000 bushels, with a reasonable allowance for Russia requirements."

FEDERAL GRADES HELP MARKETING

Organizers of Co-operative Associations Fail to Recognize Value of Standard

HIGHER PRICES ARE SECURED

Florida Growers Pack Cucumbers Through Central Packing House Thus Insuring Uniformity of Product

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Growers of fruits and vegetables are appreciating more and more the benefits possible through organization in marketing their products. It is estimated that there are 14,000 farmers' cooperative buying and selling associations in the United States of which about 2,000 represent fruit and vegetable interests.

Will Find Bureau Grades Helpful.
Where the association is organized for the purpose of selling, the organizers often lose sight of the fact that some standard must be adopted for marketing their products. Individuals or organizations will find the recommended or proposed grades formulated by the bureau of markets, United States Department of Agriculture, very helpful as a basis for their packs or brands.

One Florida truck growers' association adopted this past season the tentative United States grades for cucumbers as a basis for their "Fancy" and "Choice" packs, marketing them under their leading brand. An investigator of the bureau of markets inspected the association pack and the individual shippers' pack and advised with them where any doubtful points concerning grades were raised. This inspection service gave the bureau of markets an opportunity to determine in the field whether the grades as formulated were practical, at least under Florida conditions.

The association packed all cucumbers through a central packing shed, each grower's product thus being graded by a disinterested person. This made for uniformity of the product. Every car loaded by the association was approximately 4 to 5 per cent within the grade requirements. Nearly every car inspected outside the central packing house was below grade, ranging 3 to 20 per cent in excess of the 10 per cent tolerance allowed for defective or cull stock.

It is interesting to study the prices received by association members for stock packed under Federal grades through their central packing house and prices received by farmers outside the association. Prices given in the accompanying table are f. o. b. car lots in bushel hamper.

No straight cars of No. 3 were loaded on the street because it is customary to include a certain portion of such cucumbers in both the No. 1 and No. 2 grade.

Grades Fixed on Some Products.
The Bureau of Markets has officially recommended grades for potatoes, sweet potatoes, strawberries, northern-grown onions, Bermuda onions, and formulated tentative grades for barreled apples, cabbage, peaches, tomatoes, cucumbers, lettuce, celery, and asparagus. These grades are the result of investigations conducted in the leading fruit and vegetable sections, as well as in primary markets. The adoption of such definite grades by fruit and vegetable shippers, whether individuals or associations, would assist very materially in increasing returns and, no doubt, tend toward better understanding between shippers and receivers.

Making Extraordinary Mileage a Certainty—

Car Owners want more rubber on the tread where the wear is hardest; more gum between cord plies to perfect a resilient and powerful carcass. And they want a scientifically constructed Non Skid tread with all angles and contacts to resist skidding and give sure traction. Firestone Cord Tires have met these demands of the car owners.

Read Letters Below— Records from 29,000 to 57,000 Miles

Cord Tires built the Firestone way could not fail to produce mileage. Every day, from all over the country, comes the word that 10,000, 20,000 or 30,000 miles are frequent and consistent records.

Sept. 10, 1921
Firestone Tire & Rubber Co., Jacksonville Branch, Jacksonville, Florida, Gentlemen:—

I submit herewith the history of a 33x4 Firestone Cord tire. This tire has run 57,000 miles. I have retreaded it seven times. The average mileage to each retreading was about 7,000. I think you will agree this is a remarkable record. It is especially unusual as I know the owner to be a severe driver. However, he gives his tires proper inflation. The tire in question is not yet out of service and has every indication of being sufficiently strong for another retread. I am enclosing photograph under separate cover.

Sept. 2, 1921
The Harvey E. Mack Co., Thirteenth & Harmon Place, Minneapolis, Gentlemen:—

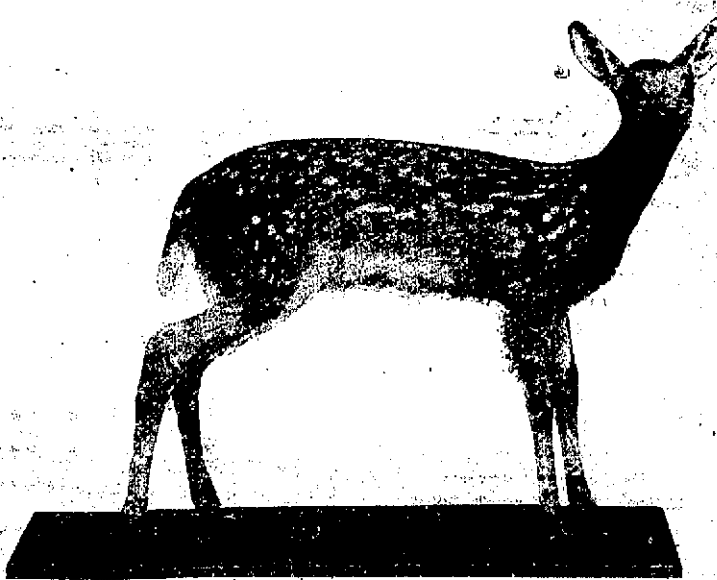

It occurs to me that you might be interested in the mileage that I obtained from the set of Firestone Cord tires on my Dodge coupe. The first tire went over 29,000 miles. The second tire rolled up a mileage of between 34,000 and 35,000. These were both rear tires and had been cut considerably by chains. The two front tires have gone better than 35,000 miles and are still in good condition. I expect to get at least 40,000 miles from each of them. I need scarcely say that the Firestone Cord will be my tire choice for the future.

STERILIZE THE FENCERO—AND SAVE MONEY!

The familiar strip, known as the "fencerow," usually has no good use but to mark out the bounds of a farm or divide it into various sections for agricultural purposes! On this strip thrive numerous weeds, unmolested, that spread so the majority of these weeds are the food plants of the hundreds of species of destructive insects that breed unmolested and from the crops, field and orchards!

WINNER OF SERIES ALWAYS VICTOR IN FIRST GAME

Since the National Commission assumed charge of the World's Series, beginning in 1906, the winner of the opening tussle invariably captured the winning laurels.

In the fifteen games played since 1905 the winner of the first game won the series twelve times.

The exceptions were in 1911, when the New York Giants thumped the Athletics and in 1915 when the Phillies defeated the Red Sox.

The table showing the winner of the first game follows:

1905—New York (N. L.), 3; Athletics (A. L.), 0.
1907—Chicago (N. L.), 4; Detroit (A. L.), 3.

AIM FOR HEALTH IN DRIVING CAR

Many Drivers Add to Numerous Ills by Failure to Consider Safety Points.

AVOID STRAINED ATTITUDES

Most Natural Position is Correct One to Assume in Driving an Automobile—Slouching in Seat Causes Fatigue.

Motoring, taken in right doses, is healthful. There is such a thing, however, as an overdose. There is a correct and an incorrect way to drive and ride, from the standpoint of health, as well as from the standpoint of ordinary safety.

No learned physician need be consulted to determine if you drive correctly. Anyone can diagnose his own case. The symptoms are not hidden, says Cleveland Plain Dealer.

If, after a drive of fifty to a hundred miles, one gets out of his machine physically or mentally exhausted, "completely all in," his way of driving is all wrong.

In driving any horse not particularly high spirited, the reins are usually left hanging rather loosely, seldom taut.

In steering an automobile, hold the wheel as you would a quiet, easy-going mare—easily.

Many people, when driving, hold to the steering wheel with all muscles tense and set. That is fatiguing and when quick action is demanded the muscles do not respond as readily as they should.

Constant driving in this fashion is usually due to nervousness. A general physical relaxation noted on finishing a trip is the symptom denoting this habit; though most persons so afflicted are aware of it, catching themselves frequently in strained attitudes.

Another Bad Habit.

Another bad habit among operators of motor vehicles is the tendency to slouch in the seat at the wheel. No one seems to cherish the old coachman's erect attitude, preferring to get as near a reclining position as possible.

Yet there are few coachmen suffering from curvature of the spine or round shoulders. The most natural sitting position is the correct one to assume when driving an automobile. Leaning over the wheel and resting one arm on the side of the car as on an arm rest are not healthful positions. While not necessarily harmful in themselves, they are in the end tiring.

A common affliction is eye strain. This is brought on by much night driving where the operator is peering for a long time into poorly lighted roads, or standing the glare of blinding searchlights.

To prevent this, look as much as possible into the stream of your own headlights and never, if possible, into approaching glare. If you are driving far enough on your own side of the road this is generally unnecessary.

Don't try to see too much at once. That is dangerous to more than the eyes.

Remove Rubber Footwear.

Inclement weather necessitates wearing of rubbers and overshoes. They have always been known to make the feet perspire when worn where the temperature is normal. When worn while operating an automobile, especially a closed car, the radiated heat from the motor passing up through the floor boards and transmitted by the metal controls, accentuates the perspiration.

Water Consumption.

An average American town uses for all purposes from 50 to 150 gallons of water a day for each inhabitant.

England's Richest

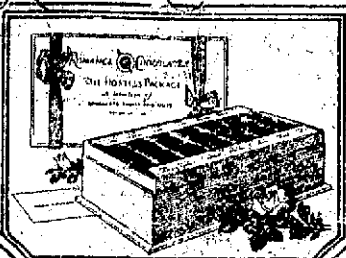

Miss Edwina Ashley became the richest woman in England through the inheritance of the $50,000,000 fortune of her grandfather, Sir Edwina Cassel. She is 20 and a god-daughter of the late King Edward, an intimate friend of Sir Cassel.

High Amount of Butter Fat Assures Quality

When we get in touch with producer of milk the first thing that is done with the first shipment of milk is to put it through the Babcock test to determine the amount of butter fat the milk contains.

If the proper percentage of butter fat is not there the farmer is told that he will either have to bring his milk up to our standard or we cannot continue to take his milk.

This assures you of getting milk that has a high percentage of butter fat which is the portion of milk that carries the highest amount of nutriment.

Chinese Think Little of Women.

Of an "little" account is woman in China that a father, if asked the number of his children, will probably leave out the girls in his reckoning. In the very great majority of cases the girls are not taught to read or write, for a simple reason, as the men would say, that it is useless for girls to learn to read. All the restrictive customs are based on the idea that woman is a being inferior to man.

"Say you are my wife," he pleaded.

And she did!

"Marry me—be my real wife," he asked.

And she did!

"Trust me no matter what you learn about me," he insisted.

But—could she, when she knew him to be a thief and his wedding gift a stolen gem.

THERAPEUTIC VALUE OF FRUITS.

The healthfulness of fruit is so well known that, while we may not care to support the claims of those who believe we should subsist entirely on fruits and vegetables, we are willing to credit them with great virtue. It is interesting, too, to know what is said about them.

Lemon juice is used to bleach and soften the skin; mixed with buttermilk it is said to dispel freckles. Lemon juice applied to bites and stings of insects will relieve at once.

As a mouth wash, lemon juice in a glass of water dissolves the tartar on the teeth and sweetens the breath.

Oranges, while rich in sugar and water, have salts of high value, while the flavor of the pulp is especially attractive. Oranges left upon the bowl. Taken at night they are especially good. A glass of orange juice can be taken by the most delicate stomach and is especially recommended for biliousness.

Grape fruit is said to contain a substance similar to quinine; this may be due to its bitter flavor. This fruit has been recommended in case of grippe, and is said to cure that tired feeling which is called spring fever.

Those who know say that the proper way to treat grapefruit for a medicine is to put it, seeds, skin and all, through the meat grinder, cover with boiling water and let the mixture stand until cold. Strain and take in small doses three times a day. Those who like quinine will probably enjoy this.

Apples are called an ideal nerve fruit, are laxative, hold valuable salts such as sodium and iron.

Peaches are also rich in iron and they are highly recommended for anemic people.

Cherries stimulate the gastric juices (the acid kind), and are laxative. Plums are good but best as prunes. Figs are also high in nutritive value and are considered nature's best laxative.

ALL KNOW JACK WILLIAMS

Adjutant of North Dakota Legion Department Acquired Popularity While Serving as Newsie.

Everybody in North Dakota, and not a few in bordering states know Jack Williams, adjutant of the American Legion department, and his resonant voice. Williams acquired both his popularity and his voice by crying "Extra, extra, all about it" on the streets of Fargo, N. D., for six years.

While newsie, Williams conceived a monopoly on all the city's evening papers which brought all the other boys into his employ and made money for him. Later he branched out and worked in a newspaper press room. He worked up to pressman, a position he was holding when he enlisted in the Third Engineers for the war.

Forced to quit school while in the fourth grade, Williams obtained a good education on the streets and by night study. At twenty-one years old he was president of the Fargo Trades and Labor assembly, a post he resigned to enlist. He went into the army as a private and came out with the same rank. He was the first state adjutant of the American Legion department.

POST SELECTS THIS BEAUTY

Puget Sound Organization Chooses Miss Hazel Jordan as One of Their Prefect.

A dip in refreshing ocean water every day during the summer and every week, at least, during the winter, makes for the sparkling eyes and exceptional beauty of Miss Hazel Jordan, recently selected by the American Legion of Seattle, Wash., as one of the three most beautiful girls in the great Northwest.

Because of the cool, moist air which blows the year around, because they swim, skate, ski, float and fly and do everything else that a real live American girl is supposed to do, the beauties of the Northwest far surpass those of any other section of the United States, the Legion of Seattle holds. All these advantages obviate the use of rouge, powder, the lipstick and paint, too, they declare.

Miss Jordan lives in Everett, Wash., on the eastern shore of Puget sound. She was the only one of the three girls who would tell, willingly, her age. She admits eighteen years.

KILLED BY SHELL FROM WAR

Ammunition Expert Is Almost Blown to Pieces in His Own Home at Indianapolis.

Although he had gone through the World war unscathed and had qualified as an expert in handling artillery ammunition, Frank M. Kinne, Indianapolis, Ind., recently was nearly blown to pieces in his home by a three-inch shell he had brought from France. After having served in an exhibition squad which gave demonstrations of how shells were unloaded and exploded, Kinne was unloading his souvenir shell when the fatal accident occurred.

Kinne's little home was wrecked, but his mother and sister, sleeping in an upstairs room, miraculously escaped injury. The local post of the American Legion, to which the soldier had applied for membership following his recent discharge from the regular army, gave him a military burial.

850 DISASTER DEATH TOLL FOR ONE YEAR

Red Cross Gives $1,871,000 Relief When 65,000 Families Are Made Homeless.

Forty-three disasters, resulting in the death in the United States of 850 persons and the injury of 2,500 called for emergency relief measures and the expenditure of $1,871,000 by the American Red Cross during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921, says an announcement based upon the forthcoming annual report of the Red Cross. These disasters caused property damage estimated at $30,000,000, affected sixty-seven communities and rendered 65,000 families homeless.

The year's disasters were of varying types, including several which previously had never been thought of as falling within that classification. The Red Cross furnished relief in seventeen fires of magnitude, five floods, seven tornadoes or cyclones, one devastating storm, three explosions, including the one in Wall street; one building accident, two typhoid epidemics, the most serious being that at Salem, Ohio, which affected 9 per cent of the population; one smallpox epidemic, in the republic of Haiti; one train wreck, the race riot at Tulsa, Okla.; the famine in China, emergency relief in famine among the Indians of Alaska, the grasshopper plague in North Dakota and an earthquake in Italy.

Pueblo Most Serious

By far the most severe of the disasters in the United States during the period covered by the Red Cross report was the Pueblo flood early in June, 1921. The rehabilitation problem confronting the Red Cross in Pueblo was one of the most difficult in recent years. When the first news of the horror was flashed throughout the country, the American Red Cross National Headquarters responded with a grant of $105,000 for relief work. Governor Shoup of Colorado, appreciating the long and successful experience of the Red Cross in organizing disaster relief work, placed the entire responsibility for the administration of relief in its hands.

In response to appeals from President Harding, Governor Shoup and other governors of western states and through local chapters of the Red Cross and other community organizations, public-spirited citizens brought the total contributed for Pueblo's rehabilitation to more than $925,000.

The terrible havoc wrought by the flood waters is a matter of record. More than 2,300 homes were affected and 7,351 persons were left homeless. Estimates of $500,000 as an absolute minimum for rehabilitation were made by Red Cross officials in charge of the relief work.

Fast Work in Wall Street

The Wall street explosion was notable in that relief workers of the Red Cross were on the scene twenty minutes after the disaster occurred. The race riot at Tulsa also was unique in disaster relief annals in that outside of a small emergency relief fund contributed by the Red Cross, the only relief measures outside the city consisted of the service of social workers, nurses and a trained executive whose object was to assist local forces in directing their own efforts.

In decided contrast with the previous year, only one tornado assumed the proportions of a major disaster. This occurred on April 15, in the border sections of Texas and Arkansas with the city of Texarkana as the center. The significant feature of this disaster relief work was the fact that it covered so much rural territory as to make necessary a large number of relief workers.

The famine in China, necessitating relief expenditures totaling more than $1,000,000 by the American Red Cross, was by far the most serious of the foreign disasters in which the Red Cross gave aid.

Build Up Its Machinery

In connection with the administration of disaster relief measures, an increasing effectiveness on the part of the Red Cross to deal with emergencies was manifested during the past year. In 323 chapters of the American Red Cross there have been formal special committees to survey the resources of their respective communities and to be prepared in case of disaster. In others of the 3,402 active chapters, a network of communication has been formed through which instantaneous relief may be dispatched to any part of the United States.

That its work in this field may be continued with ever greater effectiveness, the American Red Cross is appealing for widespread renewal of membership during its Annual Roll Call, to be conducted this year from November 11 to 24.

LIFE SAVING CORPS ENROLLMENT 10,000

Growth of Red Cross Life Saving Corps throughout the country continued unabated during the last fiscal year, a summary of the year's achievements by that Red Cross Service shows. There are now 100 Corps with a total membership of more than 10,000 members, of which 1,276 are sufficiently skilled in the work to act as examiners. Among the outstanding achievements of the Red Cross in this field during the last year was the organization of the United States Naval Academy, Annapolis, of what is perhaps the largest life saving corps in the world.

HEALTH IS A WOMAN'S GREATEST ASSET

Contrast the cheerful happy woman with head erect, the glow of health on her cheeks, the elastic step and bubbling enthusiasm as she goes about her daily tasks, with the woman who suffers from backache, headaches dragging-down pains, nervousness and despondency. Such conditions are undoubtedly caused by woman's ailments which will yield to Lydia Pinkham Vegetable Compound, which for many years has been restoring weak, ailing women to health and strength. Every woman who suffers in this way owes it to herself to at least give it a trial.

The Best Policy

is to take care of your health. If you get out of sorts, head heavy and weary with sick stomach, it is usually constipation—a system clogged with waste and poisonous matter. For over 70 years Beecham's Pills have been correcting just that condition; is a trial tested medicine—easy to take and sure to act in overcoming constipation.

No taste—no gripes.
